Nata per vincere

Costruita appositamente per diventare la regina del rally, con il suo design avveniristico e tre titoli Mondiali Costruttori vinti dal 1974 al 1976, la Lancia Stratos è una protagonista assoluta nella storia dell'automobilismo.

Una nuova star nella Collezione in 1:12 Italeri, una scala che ne esalta le linee costruttive, l'aerodinamica e i dettagli del motore

Profilo Storico Modellistico

La Lancia Stratos è una delle auto più iconiche nella storia del motorsport e venne progettata con il preciso scopo di vincere le competizioni rallystiche del periodo. Destinata a sostituire l'altrettanto celebre Lancia Fulvia HF, ebbe il suo debutto all'inizio degli anni '70. Caratterizzata da un design moderno ed estremamente accattivante, con una carrozzeria bassa e molto aggressiva progettata da Bertone, la Lancia Stratos era equipaggiata con un motore V6, derivato dalla Ferrari Dino, di 2.400 cc da 250 CV. La combinazione tra il potente motore a sei cilindri e l'innovativo telaio leggero e compatto, fu la base per la nascita di un'auto che cambiò la storia delle competizioni fuoristradistiche. I primi successi arrivarono al suo debutto, nel 1973, e si consolidarono, grazie anche a piloti leggendari, con la vittoria in tre campionati del mondo costruttori consecutivi nel corso degli anni '70.
